WASTE MANAGEMENT

> The best waste is that which does not arise at all

A high volume of waste, especially from disposable products, means a high consumption of natural resources and energy. The higher the proportion of recyclable materials in disposal, the more environmentally friendly waste disposal can be. A higher recycling rate can be achieved above all through correct waste separation. Currently, waste separation at the University of Hildesheim is partly insufficient and partly non-existent. We can change that together!

- The Federal Environment Agency publishes information on the topic waste.
- Interesting background information, data and facts on the topic of plastic are provided by the Plastic Atlas

WASTE AVOIDANCE

Avoid waste by following the Pyramid of Sustainable Consumption

- At the University of Hildesheim you will find several exchange shelves
- Members of the Initiative Foodsharing save food - a "Fairteiler" (place where people can bring food and take it away) can be found, for example, at the Bühler campus.
- In the Hildesheim Telegram group "Sharing is Caring", people share and swap
- Find out about flea markets and clothes swap parties
- Faserwerk Hildesheim specialises in UpCycling fashion and offers a sewing workshop

WASTE SEPARATION

- Waste cannot always be avoided - that is why it is important to separate it properly!
